++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Another dry, cold night. Frost and fog patches developing overnight.

This Evening and Tonight:
Skies will remain largely clear tonight, with just some patchy cloud in eastern areas, allowing for another dry, cold night. Many will see frost develop in the early hours, with prone areas seeing patches of fog form as well. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Monday:
After a frosty start, sunny spells will make for a warm, dry day, with occasional cloud and hazy sunshine later. Becoming cloudy overnight, with showers approaching from the north. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Frequent showers on Tuesday, some heavy. Scattered showers on Wednesday and Thursday, but drier. Cloudy, and turning colder with a continued overnight frost risk.
